Parking Problem Relieved

Students at the Andover Institute of Business have voluntarily declared a five day moratorium on parking in the vicinity of the school.

This includes using spaces at the municipal parking lot as well as nearby streets.

The action was taken this week, following a meeting of school and town officials and the student-faculty senate at the school.

In cooperation with Rev. Kenneth J. Kennedy, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's church, the students have been parking in the church parking lot on Brook Street and walking up to the school for classes.

Andrew Efstathiou, of AIB, reported Tuesday, that the school, had taken the opportunity to relieve the congestion in front of 90 Main street, following a meeting with Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, Mrs. Lucille Barrett and Robert Schwarz of the Andover Chamber of Commerce and student faculty representatives.

Efstathiou said the students took the initiative themselves and agreed to co-operate and park at the Brook street lot. He said the students were willing to show good will toward the town.

A check of the area surrounding the school, following the moratorium, found that most of the available parking spaces in the municipal parking lot and on surrounding street were filled.

There had been complaints from time to time about students using the available parking areas while in class. The move this week is an effort to provide temporary relief while alternate plans are made.

The average time consumed by student parking is about three hours, Efstathiou said.

Parking on Brook street, resulted in the students walking about four and one-half minutes to class. It is hoped that this time can be cut down by finding some space nearer the school.

At the half hour meeting on Tuesday, it was decided to continue to meet and attempt to resolve the parking problem.

HOLIDAY GREETING. The illuminated tree in Elm Square, along with decorated lamp posts signals Andover's greeting to residents and visitors alike as they enter the town. The lights, sponsored by the Andover Chamber of Commerce will continue to sparkle through New Years, truly lighting up the holiday season.

The Scene Changes At Abbot

(A TOWNSMAN News Feature)

For nearly a century and a half, Abbot Academy has lived up on the hill, ever since Miss Sarah Abbot asked her friend Squire Farrar, "What shall I do with my surplus funds?" to which he promptly replied, "Found an academy in Andover for the education of young women!" And she did.

Never in those 142 years of steady growth through early hardship and later success has there been more activity, change and new directions for Abbot than in the past three, under male headmaster Donald Gordon. To cap it off, she is now considering marriage.

The betrothal of Abbot and next door neighbor Phillips Academy was announced recently by their respective boards of trustees. Both Phillips and Abbot will be engaged, for the next several months at least, in finding out whether they should continue and extend their close but platonic relationship, a brother-sister type of coordination of extracurricular activities and even classes, or whether their mutual interests should be consummated in a union -- one board of trustees, one student body, one faculty, one administration, -- for better or for worse.

In the same season as the commitment of Abbot and Phillips Academies to exploring the best way they can educate boys and girls together, Abbot has launched a New Abbot Fund, the first capital fund drive in many years.

The Curious Citizen wonders: Is the New Abbot Fund for endowment, or merely for dowry toward a marriage of convenience, a merger of necessity in which Abbot's identity would dissolve?

In other words, how new is the New Abbot? Is it just the old Abbot, with pants and sandals instead of tie shoes? Has it substance and personality to attract support of its own, something to bring to the budding relationship with Phillips besides its gender?

PA Headmaster John Kemper points out that joint PA-Abbot departmental "getting to know you" meetings begun this fall are beginning to replace the initial ignorance of each faculty about the other with mutual respect.

The most reliable indications that Abbot would not be simply assimilated by the more widely known and heavily endowed boys' school are just Abbot's new sense of self-confidence, buoyed by rising admissions and greater selectivity, and the fact that Phillips Academy is also in a period of redefining its goals and methods of achieving them.

PA's switch to a trimester calendar, and the "cluster" housing system are both new, and a curriculum committee has just been appointed, to work during the year and daily next summer, on a wholesale review of possibilities to determine the optimum courses of study.

The curriculum committee is holding its meetings in conjunction with Abbot's Curriculum committee, and they are specifically charged with determining "whether and how the two schools should develop common or compatible diploma requirements and courses of study."

Headmaster John Kemper points out that the issue of such deliberations, subject to faculty approval, may well be something which will look quite new to both schools. Meanwhile, other committees of trustees, alumni, administration and faculty are considering the financial implications and the social implications -- of brother-sister coordination of activities and classes versus a full institutional merger.

The Curious Citizen may still wonder what it is that is different about Abbot besides the fact that she dropped her dress code. A

A Record

Today's edition of the TOWNSMAN marks a new record.

It is the largest paper ever published in the 84 year history of the paper with 44 pages of news and announcements by merchants offering holiday giving ideas.

Negotiations To Be Closed

School committee members saw the new contract proposal from the teachers' association in executive session Tuesday night, but the press and public cannot see it.

Contract negotiations will be closed to both press and public this year, a ground rule insisted on by the Andover Education Association bargainers at last week's initial session.

The AEA, representing the schools' professional staff, is an affiliate of the Massachusetts Teachers Association. Active at the initial negotiators' meeting was Bruce McDonald, former Andover teacher who left to become a fulltime professional negotiator for the MTA, as well as Arnold Mendelssohn, a Haverhill teacher whom the AEA executive board has selected as their MTA negotiator.

Negotiations this year are being carried out through professional negotiators, instead of directly

Taxes Could Rise $7

Andover appears to be faced with a possible increase of $7 in the tax rate in 1971, according to figures contained in the preliminary budget presented to the selectmen this week by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

The budget, which by charter must be presented to the selectmen by Dec. 1, reflects an estimated total of $202,000,000 for municipal costs in 1971, as compared to $196,328,600 this year.

Largest increase is in the school department where the preliminary estimate for that department shows a rise of $1,100,000. This represents an increase of approximately $5.50 in the tax rate.

The general government account is up by $570,000, representing about $2 on the tax rate.

Built in is an increase in the town's bonded indebtedness account of $196,000, which represents an increase of approximately $1 on the rate.

Santa Is Due Here Saturday

Santa Claus is coming to town and it will be the biggest welcome ever for the popular old gent.

Robert Demers, who is heading up the Andover Fire department committee which annually sponsors the parade said Tuesday that this year's parade which will step off at 10 a.m. is lining up as the biggest yet. The parade will start from the East Junior High parking lot and move through the downtown area.

Santa will be going modern in his arrival this year, being transported in the fire department's snorkel in the parade and then taken to the town hall where he will greet the youngsters and distribute candy.

There will be at least three bands. The Andover High school band will be joined by a band from Lawrence and the ever popular Clan MacPherson, "Kiltie" band.

Also scheduled for the parade route are at least ten floats.

Town officials are expected to participate in the line of march.

For the enjoyment of youngsters there will be clowns and elves prancing about.

Aiding the fire fighters in planning the annual greeting for Santa this year are members of the Retail Task Force of the Andover Chamber of Commerce and members of the Andover Society.

The Price of Food and The Cost of Living

No one needs to remind us that the price of foods has been going up. We know it. And we don't like it, either.

But increasing prices are only part of the food story. The rest of the story is that Americans spend a smaller share of their income on food than any people anywhere in the world.

Moreover, Americans spend a smaller share of their income for food today than they ever have in the past.

Twenty years ago food took 23.7% of total U. S. consumer expenditures. Last year, food took only 18.2% of the average family budget - a drop of 5.5%.

Food's decreasing share in the total cost of living is a tribute to the increasing efficiency of American food production and food distribution.

Most nations still have to devote most of their human resources to food production.

It is only because food in this country takes so small a share of our income that we have so large a share available for other goods and services.

The CO-OP can't stop inflation. But we will do everything we can to help keep food's share the lowest in any country anywhere. This we do by efficient operation and the unique refund of any CO-OP net surplus.

Bloodmobile At Academy On Monday

If you are 18 years of age and under 67 you will have the opportunity to make a Christmas gift for which there is no substitute.

You may save a life by being a blood donor at the Isham Infirmary Monday, Dec. 7 from 2 to 6.

This is to be a combined student endeavor for Andover High School, Abbot and Phillips Academies. The committee includes Meridith Shaw and Deborah Towne of Andover High, Deborah Huntington from Abbot Academy, and James Johnson from Phillips Academy. They are not only seeking donors from the schools but are hoping for support from the community.

The bloodmobile will be manned by student volunteers under Red Cross adult supervisors from the Andover Chapter.

Call 475-1496 for preferred appointment or be a walk-in.

To reach Isham Infirmary, turn off Main St. onto Phillips Street and take first left which leads directly there. There is ample parking.

The next bloodmobile will be in January so give now and contribute through the Andover Red Cross to the Massachusetts Blood Program for the holiday needs which always far exceed the supply. Sign up today.

Ski Team To Organize

The Andover Buddy Werner ski team, a charter member of the Eastern Massachusetts Buddy Werner League, is organizing for the season and seeking additional racers for competition with junior skiers from other communities in the region.

Boys and girls with skiing ability for all ages but who have not reached their 14th birthday by January 1, 1971, are eligible to participate.

Members of the team compete in separate Boy and Girl Divisions for ages 8 and under; 9, 10 and 11; and 12 and 13 years of age.

The team will meet Monday, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of the Bay State Merchants National Bank and candidates interested in participating should attend with a parent to receive further information.

The Buddy Werner Ski League offers a racing program for youngsters 13 years of age or younger and provides the vehicle which introduces them to ski racing. The program is a racing one and takes the youngster who has already learned how to ski into the world of competition.

Participation is at the local or ski area level. Travel is thus cut to a minimum since the competition is within the League itself. For youngsters at this age level, it is felt that this is an important advantage.

Buddy Werner League skiing is designed to fit into existing programs, not to replace them or to compete with them.

Teams are small enough to insure proper individual coaching; when the demand gets too great for one League, another is formed. Participation is on the team level. Although the winner is the team, the individual who competes for the team receives points according to his individual performance, and so his own development is preserved and encouraged; on the other hand, he is not a loser -- except in the sense that the whole team may lose. The inexperienced racer can therefore progress through a successful experience by adding points to his team's score no matter where he finishes. If he is the tenth man on his team, he is actually competing against the tenth man of the other team.

That the program was named after the late Buddy Werner is natural. Buddy received his start in a similar program in Steamboat Springs, Colorado. He was always the idol of youngsters and went out of his way to help them. He'd be pleased with this program since he always felt skiing should be exciting, competitive and fun. Buddy Werner League skiing is all three.

Competitions are planned for Jan. 10, Jan. 24 and Feb. 7, at nearby Massachusetts ski areas. In addition a championship meet will be held on Feb. 28. An Invitational competition with Western Massachusetts representatives is planned for March 14, at Mt. Washussetts.

Coaches for the Andover team are: Jim Reid, 3 Haven Drive; Bud Eaton, 80 Argilla Road; Ted Sutton, 10 Center St.; Bob Watelet, 7 Random Lane and Jack Young, 25 Coolidge Road.

Christmas Dance Set For Center

On Saturday evening, Dec. 5, the third annual Christmas Dance and anniversary celebration will take place at the Christian Formation Center, Andover. The Center opened its doors in Dec., 1968, to serve the Merrimack Valley community.

A gala evening is being planned by the committee in charge. A buffet dinner will be served at 8 p.m. with dancing and entertainment continuing until 12 p.m. Music by the Merry Makers will be featured.

Members of the Christmas Dance committee include chairman, Rev. Francis Paolo, O.F.M., director of the Christian Formation Center, Rita and Ralph Rowbotham, Edna Flannegan, Joyce Lloyd, Patricia Flynn, Barbara Varoski, Jane Varoski, Marcel Cote, Shirley Daigle, Marilyn McKenzie, Kathleen Alexander and Ralph Parrotta.

Single tickets and tables for six and eight people are still available. Reservations may be made by calling any member of the committee.

The Dump Is Filled With Activity

Anybody notice the swarms of kids and teachers with wind-blown hair and red noses at the Andover Dump?

The AEA (Andover Ecology Action), a combination of Abbot, Phillips, and Andover High students, has set up a paper drive whereby newspapers, magazines, cardboard, etc. is collected for recycling. Kids come for two-hour shifts, but most have such a great time they stay longer, joining in the tailgating parties, living it up, and playing football.

Mr. Nelson and Mr. Peakes, the forerunners of the event incited spirit and excitement in everybody. Last week a mother pig and her two piglets were sighted perusing thru' the dump.

So, next week, of course, there will be a pig riding contest for anyone willing to try, otherwise just come and watch.

Advent Series To Continue At South

During the Sundays of Advent, beginning last Sunday and continuing through Christmas Sunday, Dec. 20, the ministers of South Church, are giving a series of advent lectures entitled, "The Name Above Every Name." Looking toward the birthday of Jesus, as advent does, and emphasizing it as a time for preparation, and repentance, as well as joy that culminates in Christmas, they are thinking together of the various names and titles that were given to the Child that was born.

Last Sunday, Rev. Mr. Bodge, senior minister, discussed the names, "Jesus, Jesus Christ, Son of David, Son of Man." Next Sunday, Rev. Mr. Eversley, assistant minister, will speak on, "Messiah, Saviour, Prophet, King." On Dec. 13, Rev. Mr. Bodge will deal with the title, "He That Should Come," as well as, "Beloved, Only, Chosen, Lord." The series will conclude on the twentieth with "Son of God," "The Great Amen."

These Forum presentations follow the morning service at 11:15 and conclude at 12 noon.

A welcome is extended to all to attend the worship at 10 a.m. and the forum at 11:15.

Decorated Doors To Be Viewed

The Four Seasons Garden Club members and husbands will enjoy a festive Sunday, Dec. 6, viewing six holiday doors decorated by members of the club.

Doors decorated are at the homes of: Dr. and Mrs. John Niceforo, 29 West Parish Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Deveau, 8 Hemlock Road; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Eigenmann, 12 Wild Rose Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Yunggerbauer, 386 Lowell St.; Mr. and Mrs. William McCarthy, 6 Regis Road; and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mansour, 12 Regis Road.

A Christmas cheer party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mansour from 5 to 7 p.m. following the tour of the decorated doors.

Too often those party platforms turn out to be deadfalls.

To those who pay cash for a car we offer congratulations.

To those who don't we offer cash—on the condition that you pay us back.

Apples Supply Vitamins

As the really cold weather begins to bear down on the Bay State, it's time to be sure that your family is getting proper amounts of vitamins and nutrition. One excellent source of vitamins is apples. According to the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, there's an abundant supply of flavorful McIntosh and Red Delicious to grace December's table.

Apples make an excellent food for several reasons. Their large quantity of vitamin C promotes healthy cells and tissue while their content of vitamin A provides body growth, vigor, and good vision. Pectin and mild acids help heal, fight body poisons, and aid digestion. Natural sugars provide instant energy. And, best of all, with only 90 calories, the apple makes an excellent, satisfying snack, and you won't have to worry about filling up before meals or exceeding your diet. As nature's toothbrush, eating one apple removes over 30 percent more bacteria than a three minute brush-ing plus a gargle. How's those apples?

Picked in the fall, much of the crop is placed in special controlled storage and ripens under rigid controls that provide fresh, juicy apples right through Massachusetts' long winter.

For years, applesauce has been a companion to pork dishes. For a blustery winter's night, try this tasty apple-sausage combination.

Baked Apple and Sausage: 12 port link sausages; 4 tables. flour; 2 c hot water; 4 medium apples; 1 tables. vinegar; 1/2 teas. salt; 2 tables. brown sugar.

Brown sausages and place in casserole. Leave 1/4 cup fat in the skillet, mix in flour and add hot water slowly. When thickened, add vinegar and salt. Core and slice apples into rings and place on top of sausages then pour sauce over all and top with brown sugar. Cover and bake in 350 F. oven for 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Serves four.

Return Addresses Needed

The "North Pole" mail box in front of the town hall has been busy for the past week. Some of the boys and girls who have used the box may be disappointed if they do not receive an answer. This is because no return address was included in the letter.

The recreation department will be glad to see that all Santa Claus mail is answered as long as the return address is included.

Eagles Continue Decline

The last embattled remnant of New England's bald eagle population continued its slow decline this summer.

A National Audubon Society survey found only 11 young eagles in 30 Maine nests. In some respects, the count represents an improvement either in censusing methods or eagle production over the low of 1965 when four young eagles were fledged from 53 known nests.

Neither count, however, is encouraging. What both mean is that Maine eagles are producing too few young to maintain an eagle population in New England. If eagles were not such long-lived birds, the remnant colony already would have disappeared. The 1970 census, for instance, disclosed that pairs of eagles were tending 22 nests in which no young were produced. The physical condition of those eagles may have reached a point where reproduction no longer is possible.

Through the long period of decline which has gone on at least since World War II, eagles have proved remarkable indicators of what is happening in our environment. If one tests eagle eggs or eagle flesh for almost any contaminant, the poison can be found and often in suspiciously large doses. The latest alarming contaminant has been mercury. Sure enough, tests have shown significant amounts of mercury mixed up with eagles. Before that, the presence of such questionable chemicals as DDT, dieldrin and PCBs had been confirmed in eagles.

Since eagles live as water-edge scavengers, they accumulate any poison that is killing marine or aquatic animals such as fish.

E. H. Forbush in 1927 estimated that up to 100 pairs of bald eagles nested in Maine. Even in that era, Forbush noted that nests were fewer in the Kennebec River Valley than they once had been.

At the same time, Forbush spoke of a few pairs of bald eagles nesting in New Hampshire from Lake Winnepesaukee northward.

In Vermont, Forbush said, "a pair or more" still nested on Lake Champlain.

Forbush noted that records indicated that bald eagles had nested in historic times "on Mt. Tom, in the Connecticut Valley, in northern Massachusetts and on Cape Cod; also in the mountains of western Connecticut."

But eagles which had occupied these southern New England areas had disappeared long before 1927.

Although eagle nesting still occurs on the Kennebec River, particularly in the Merrymeeting Bay sector, the Audubon surveys over the years have indicated that while several pairs produce eggs rather regularly, none has hatched there since 1963. The severe pollution of the Kennebec and Androscoggin Rivers which meet at the bay have turned the water there into an enormous cesspool.

The daughter who packed 80 pounds of gear to camp, age 9, now at 18 puts her whole wardrobe in her purse.

Growth Reported By Henderson

Robert M. Henderson

A review of the mutual savings bank industry's deposit growth and investment activity for the past year, and recent legislation affecting savings banks, were included in the yearly report of President Robert M. Henderson at the annual meeting of the Andover Savings Bank held on Nov. 30.

Corporators were told that the Andover Savings Bank has again chalked up a banner year with deposits showing an increase of $6,077,000, bringing total deposits to an all-time high of $58,506,000 -- a gain of 11.6 percent for the year ending October 31. For comparison, Henderson noted the average deposit gain for all mutual savings banks in the Commonwealth during the past year was 6.5 percent.

Mr. Henderson pointed out that deposits at the North Andover office experienced an annual gain of 15 percent and the Methuen office 18 percent. Dollarwise, the two branch offices amounted to 40 percent of the bank's total deposit gain for the year, he said.

Turning to the mortgage picture, Henderson informed the meeting that the bank wrote real estate loans in excess of $9,000,000, bringing the total mortgage portfolio to a record $46,000,000. He explained that the big bulk of loans, 77 percent, were written on local single family dwellings with investment in commercial, nursing homes, apartment buildings, etc., making up the balance.

Personal loans continued at a high level during the year. Approximately $1,322,000 was written on new loans for automobiles, home improvements, education and other worthwhile purposes.

Corporators were also told that the bank experienced an increase in earnings for the past 12 months which resulted in the largest yearly total dividend payment to depositors on record -- $2,969,000, representing 73 percent of total income.

Mr. Henderson predicted a broadening of savings bank powers which will improve the competitive situation and result in improved services to people in the Greater Lawrence community.

Also announced at the meeting was the retirement of Wallace E. Brimer, who has served on the board of trustees since 1949, and the election of two new trustees: Arthur W. Ermer of Andover and J. Leroy Wood, M.D., of Methuen. Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert, superintendent of Andover's public schools was elected to the board of corporators.

CHECKING. Browsing through manuscripts of the late poet Howard Blake are, left to right; Dr. Robert Kent of Merrimack College, editor of Blake's works; Prof. Stuart C. Sherman, John Hay Librarian at Brown; and Austin Warren of Providence, professor emeritus at the University of Michigan. Prof. Warren has donated the Blake manuscripts to Brown's Harris Collection of American Poetry and Plays.

Poetic Manuscripts Presented

A collection of some 50 poetic manuscripts of the late Howard Blake have been presented to Brown University's John Hay Library by Austin Warren of Providence, professor emeritus at the University of Michigan.

The manuscripts will be added to Brown's Harris Collection, one of the major resources available to students and scholars working in the fields of American poetry, drama and music.

Blake was among a group of New England poets, including S. Foster Damon, Winfield T. Scott, David DeJong and John B. Wheelwright, who were prominent in the 1930's and 40's. A native of Wollaston, he lived in Boston most of his life.

A volume of his poetry entitled, "Prolegomena: To Any Future Poetry," was published in 1936 and a number of his poems have appeared in various magazines. Manuscripts of Blake's works have been edited for publication by Dr. Robert Kent of Andover, a member of the English department of Merrimack College.

The manuscripts given to Brown include a set of worksheets arranged in proper sequence from earliest to the final drafts of the poet's works.

"This is valuable because students can study the creative thought changes of the poet throughout his works," said Stuart C. Sherman, John Hay Librarian and associate professor of bibliography.

The gift is also a significant addition to the letters, manuscripts and printed works of poets from the same period already included in the Harris Collection, added Prof. Sherman.

Prof. Warren, a brother-in-law of the late poet, moved to Providence earlier this year and has since been named an honorary member of the English department at Brown.

Testimonial For Russell

A testimonial will be held Thursday, Dec. 10, at the Andover Country Club, honoring Roy Russell, veteran and popular member of the Andover police department, who has retired after 20 years service with the police department.

In addition to serving as a patrolman, Russell has been a member of several municipal boards, and served as chairman of the school committee during his years on that board.

Reservations for the event are available at the police station, Simeone's Pharmacy and the Kenneth P. Thompson Co.

Persons wishing to pay tribute to the retiring officer, may make contributions in care of the Bay State Merchants National Bank.

Members of the committee include Sgt. Hector Pattullo, Edward I. Erickson, Frank Kennedy, Harold Coleman, Chief David L. Nicoll, John Boyle and Duncan Cairnie.

MAKING GAIN. Andover back picks up important yardage as the Golden Warriors staged a strong second half effort last Thursday, topping annual rival North Andover, 21-7.

Watershed Association Is Formed

A citizens group interested in conservation of water and related natural resources, meeting Nov. 12 in Billerica have formed the Merrimack River Watershed Association. Elected to the Board of Directors for a 1 year term were Bertrand Bouchard, Nashua, N.H.; W. Wright Danenbarger, Manchester, N.H.; John Dodge, Laconia, N.H.; Dr. Bella M. Fabuss, Lowell; Paul Hendrick, Litchfield, N.H.; Roger M. Hunt, Manchester; Olga Olmstead, Amesbury; and Dr. John Osborne, Groveland.

The purposes of the MRWA shall be to work for the restoration and maintenance of clean water and wise use and proper management of water and related natural resources in the Merrimack River watershed; to encourage other organizations and public agencies to do the same within the watershed; to establish and promote programs of public information, education, and scientific research related to the aims of the association; and to assist in the coordination of similar efforts by other organizations, individuals, public agencies and public officials.

This new organization joins many other watershed associations in the fight to improve the quality of the environment in Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Others already organized include: Charles River Basin, Nashua River, Nissitisset River, Lake Cochituate, Blackstone River, Millers River, Westfield River, Connecticut Basin in Massachusetts. In New Hampshire, the Pemigewasset River, Souhegan River, Piscataqua River and Lake Winnepesaukee have organizations devoted to wise management uses and future development.

The Merrimack River Basin houses 1,072,000 people, roughly two-thirds of them living in Massachusetts and one-third in New Hampshire with a total watershed area of 5010 square miles. The main stream measures 116 miles in length from central New Hampshire where it rises to its mouth in Newburyport, and has carried an average of 54,560 gallons of water per second, by a measured spot in Lowell, from 1923 to present.

Attempts to organize this group have been underway since last December when the first meeting was held. Ralph H. Goodno, Regional Resource Development Specialist at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, coordinated the organizational work with Middlesex agent James T. Williams. Goodno, a former Andover resident who served 14 years as head of the forestry department at the Agricultural Institute, now resides in Danvers.

Schedule

Chairman John J. Monteiro has announced that the Central Merrimack Valley Regional Planning District Commission will conduct a seminar to discuss Regional Plans and Planning with community officials and citizens of the Valley. The seminar will be repeated twice in the Greater Lawrence area; Thursday, Dec. 3 at the Franklin School in North Andover and again Tuesday, Dec. 8 at the Lawrence City Hall. Both meetings will follow the same format, beginning at 7:45 p.m. with the general public invited.

The major items on the program will be the proposals in the Commission's newly adopted regional plan and the commission's planning for water supply and sewerage facilities. Also covered will be regionwide goals and the commission's future activities.

Chairman Monteiro explained that the seminars will also be held at the Pentucket Regional High School, West Newbury and the Amesbury Town Hall for the convenience of citizens and officials of the down-river communities. In urging all citizens of the Valley to attend the session most convenient to them, Chairman Monteiro noted that the commission and its staff have completed several planning studies over the summer. The seminar has been planned to present these studies to community leaders and interested citizens and to hear their reaction and comments.

The major effort of the summer has been the completion and adoption of a new regional plan which for the first time covers all fifteen communities in the district. The plan illustrates the areas expected to be developed for homes, stores, and industry, and a Program for Action. The program recommends a time table of actions to be taken by local boards and commissions to carry out the plan.

The regional open space study includes an inventory of major hills, streams, and ponds in the region. Of particular interest to conservation and environmental groups will be the proposal for establishment of seven major open space areas. Also proposed are open space districts where it is recommended that development be minimized.

The regional transportation study makes recommendations for revising administrative control of the 1,831 miles of streets and highways in the region.

Also completed during the summer was a report on future plans for water and sewerage facilities in the region. The major recommendation of this report was that further consideration be given to multi-community solutions for meeting short- and long-range needs. These studies are needed to enable the communities to receive maximum federal aid for projects in the water and sewerage fields.

Finally, the seminar will close with an open discussion of goals for the region and the activities which the commission will undertake in future years. This will provide an opportunity for officials and citizens to make suggestions for future action by the commission. The discussion will also enable the commission to evaluate its priorities for action in the light of local desires and needs.

Open House At Austin

Austin Preparatory School in Reading will conduct an open house on Sunday, Dec. 6, beginning at 2 p.m.

The school is located on Willow street and accessible from Route
93, via the Route 129 interchange.
Entrance examinations for the school are scheduled for Dec. 12.

The '71 Budget

As could be predicted Andover's 1971 budget is not the most palatable.

An increase of $7 in the town's tax rate, as indicated in the preliminary budget presented this week can hardly be considered good news.

Before town meeting in March some of the figures may be changed and the actual tax rate reduced somewhat.

Examination of the budget requests hardly indicate that the decrease will be that great.

The largest increase, of course, lies in the school department, up over a million dollars over a year ago and representing almost five and one-half dollars in increased taxes.

This figure could fluctuate, since negotiations for teacher salary increases have just begun. One would assume that the professional staff would be cognizant of the plight of the town with regard to costs.

The manager's initial budget indicates that the selectmen and the Finance Committee have a rugged chore ahead of them.

Mr. Austin has put forth the items which the town must consider, including some items which will require the selectmen to make some policy decisions.

Growth of the town has dictated an increase in manpower in some departments, if the community is to receive the productivity it apparently desires.

Taxpayers have already committed themselves to an increase of at least a dollar through bonded indebtedness.

Another $2 is found in the general government account, the town requiring increased personnel to meet demands.

Of particular concern is the school department budget.

Andover has continually held particular pride for being an educational community.

But the time has come, as we may observe, for some caution, unless those who are residents here are willing to pay.

Education is a costly item.

It can no longer be viewed in the light of dangling a child in front of a town meeting and asking if we care to educate him properly.

Andover, in recent years has undertaken innovative programs to educate its children.

They are expensive.

Full evaluation of their continuance should be a priority, since we no longer can afford experimentation.

Education - the most expensive part of our municipal budget - must come under thorough scrutiny this year, as we examine our projected 1971 costs.

Belt tightening is indeed in order.

Just meeting our already committed demands dictates a close examination of all budgets.

Water

No matter how much we may regret the cost of the proposed water treatment plant, its need is becoming more and more obvious.

Despite a rather damp month, one filled almost daily with some precipitation, Haggetts Pond, the town's main reservoir, remains substantially below level.

The demand placed on the water supply is now becoming evident.

Under normal circumstances, the rainfall of the past month, should have made more of an impact on increasing the level of the pond.

Undoubtedly steps will be needed in the year ahead to improve the supply.

Funds are available for the proposed water treatment facility, which will take water from the Merrimack river and place it in Haggetts pond. There is a condition that the project be allowed only if federal funds are available.

Unfortunately, it may become imperative that the town proceed without assurance of federal funds, although there is hope that such will be available soon.

"The first amendment is explicit as to 'the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances' . . . Peaceably is a key word of . . . (this) quote; however, it is conveniently ignored by many persons who equate dissent with destruction. . . There is nothing in the first amendment which guarantees people the right to riot and plunder as means of dissent. Invariably, when incidents and altercations occur during public dissent, the trouble is started by unpeaceful participants who knowingly and willingly break the law." - Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of The Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Pleasant

The addition to the West elementary school, we feel, is a most pleasant addition to the town's property.

Probably overlooked in the creation of additional classroom space, are such items as the tree areas and open space preserved in the planning of the building.

There is considerable green space, well landscaped areas supporting the functional, well constructed building.

In the planning by the building committee, architects and contractors, open areas were preserved. This will allow for instructional areas in good weather as well as preserving the conservation aspects of Andover.

There are large play areas for the children, another advantage, probably overlooked in the overall building project.

Full illumination of the building at night has also been provided in order to curtail vandalism and burglary.

These are but a few of the items which one may consider advantageous to a new school structure.

A major advantage may still be forthcoming, however.

While all of the work is not yet complete, and the building committee is still attentive to the needs, there remains an indication that money will be returned to the town from the building account.

Any time something like this can be accomplished, is certainly noteworthy.

It is expected that this may take place early next year, which may make budget planning for the year ahead a little more pleasant.

Down The Years

75 Years Ago - December, 1895

The regular monthly meeting of the selectmen and the town pay day is scheduled for next Monday.

Joseph M. Bradley of this town has received from the Massachusetts Humane Society a bronze plaque commending him for his dramatic rescue of two girls at Salisbury Beach last summer.

The work of laying track from Boston and Maine yards to the Stevens Mill coal pocket is well underway.

An additional set of swinging doors has been installed at the Post Office, thus creating a pleasant vestibule.

Andover made a large contribution to the Lawrence hospital. H. H. Church and his family collected a large number of gifts and brought them to their destination.

50 Years Ago - December, 1920

Local chapter of the American Red Cross will receive $1,559.75 to carry out its work in Andover, as a result of recent membership drive.

Rev. E. H. Prescott presented gifts as he delivers his closing sermon as pastor of Andover Baptist church.

The number of books issued from Memorial Hall Library for the month of November was 3,477. In the Ballardvale branch the number was 606.

The cost of books being so dear this year, the library is providing a list of recommended editions, particularly for children.

A high board fence is being constructed to the rear of the Free Christian church, along with repair of the stone wall in the same vicinity.

25 Years Ago - December, 1945

Superintendent of Schools Sherman announces that three teachers leaving the system will not be replaced, feeling that it is better to pay fewer teachers more money, than pay a number of mediocre teachers less money.

Two busloads of students from Punchard leave to attend the presentation of "Hamlet," in Boston at the Opera House.

Operator of truck loaded with sand and plowing snow, goes into a ditch on Fletcher street about 30 feet long. Crane needed to remove the vehicle.

Showboat minstrels present a magnificent show at the Union Congregational church in Ballardvale.

The Punchard High school athletic committee votes unanimously to establish a track team.

10 Years Ago - December, 1960

Selectmen Philip K. Allen and James D. Wilson announce they will seek re-election to another three year term on the board in the annual town election.

State announces it will use less sand on highways this winter, using instead a mixture of calcium and sodium chlorides to combat ice and snow conditions.

School committee approves new salary schedule for teachers, beginning with a minimum of $4,200 and a maximum of $6,600.

Architects provide a view of the new St. Robert Bellarmine church to be built in West Andover. The church will seat 1,000 with a full church hall in the basement.

Creation of a complete town engineering department is recommended by the town manager.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
Andover seems to be getting a new dump; and where many people can see it.

Coming north on Route 93 past the Dascomb Road Bridge and where the power line crosses, a look to the right, about 300 feet in on the power line right of way, there seems to be the beginnings of a new dump.

Does the entity which has the power line have any control over what is dumped beneath its wires? Do the Selectmen have any control over the location of new dumps; on private property that is? What town employees are charged with reporting the start up of new dumps on private property?

Because many people depend upon the local papers for knowledge of their public officials' activities, if possible, would they be kind enough, at least on oc-

Off The Top

The holiday season has certainly arrived as evidenced by the abundant activity.

Particularly noticeable this past weekend was the arrival of numerous Christmas trees to roadside stands and florist shops.

Huge truckloads were being unloaded Friday, ready for the season.

Numerous trucks were spotted on Route 495 and Route 93, well laden with the seasonal pines heading for delivery in this area as well as other parts of the state.

Some decorations are already on display in the area and within the next few days, countless other homes will take on their holiday decor.

Probably one of the finest inventions of the modern age is that of the snorkel.

Well aware of its use in fire fighting activity, the machine can be seen almost daily somewhere around town by utility companies or forestry workers.

Gone apparently is the day when workmen climbed poles to make repairs or cut limbs, with the trusty spikes harnessed firmly to the legs.

Now the snorkel, or sky worker, or whatever other name, seems to provide a safe working platform for jobs at various heights.

For those who saw the player come off the bench and prevent a touchdown in the Houston-Florida State game Thanksgiving night on television, it is not the first time such a thing has happened.

A Houston player had intercepted a pass and was well on his way for a touchdown, when a Florida State player jumped from the sidelines and tripped him up. It cost Florida State 15 yards but prevented a touchdown.

It happened a few years ago in a bowl game on New Years Day and also several years ago in a Lawrence-Lowell football game on Thanksgiving day.

Along with Christmas and New Year, comes the traditional arrival of calendars for the coming year.

The 1971 variety is arriving almost daily, providing weather forecasts for the coming year, remedies for all sorts of ills, scenes old and new, sporting events, etc.

In other words, the new crop for the coming year is just as interesting as in years past, giving more than just the actual date to make life a little easier with each passing day.

This week marks the 75th anniversary of the discovery of the X-ray machine.

Wilhelm Roentgen, a German physicist made the discovery in 1895, and it since has become a most vital force in medicine.

Used extensively for years to examine the human system, it is now used efficiently as a therapeutic machine, its rays being used to heal, as well as examine.

The Radiological Society of North America is this week marking the anniversary at a conference in Chicago.

Despite inclement weather, Santa Claus parades were well attended last weekend.

In North Andover, several bands and floats participated as the marchers and participants weathered a constant, raw drizzly afternoon.

The same conditions prevailed Sunday afternoon as the South Lawrence Associates held their annual parade. Again, despite conditions the parade was not only a good one, but well attended, under adverse conditions.

Conscience is that inner voice, said Mark Twain, that is silent until you've made a decision, and then tells you you were wrong.

Bluebirds Promoted

Recently the South School Cheerful Bluebirds, formerly under the direction of Mrs. George Kwass, became Campfire Girls at the annual fly-up ceremony at the Doherty school.

The girls, Maura Cook, Mary Higgins, Carolyn Katz, Jill Kwass, Heather Leigh, Marcia Palenski, Leslie Perry, Judy Sherrerd, Jennifer Swift, and Amy Wilbur are now under the leadership of Mrs. Calvin Perry.

New Classes In Sewing

Because of the great success of the sewing classes held at the Jewish Community Center during the past six weeks, two new classes will start.

An adult sewing class on Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., starting Monday, Dec. 7, and a children's class on Friday afternoons from 3:15 to 4:30 p.m. to begin on Friday, Dec. 18.

These classes will be taught by a local sewing teacher, Evelyn Avalone, open to the public, small charge. For further information, call the Center office, 686-4157.

Shawsheen Bussing Discussed

A large contingent of Shawsheen kindergarten parents asked the school committee Tuesday to change its regulations on barring bussing students within a mile, to permit bussing all of Shawsheen's noontime kindergarten walkers. Their reason? The uniquely heavy traffic pattern and hazardous conditions in the area of Shawsheen Square, and the absence of sidewalks on some streets.

Catalyst to the parents' action Tuesday was Shawsheen Principal Anthony Frulla's Nov. 20 notification to parents that the fifth grade noon safety patrol which leaves class to escort the children would be discontinued Dec. 1; he urged parents to arrange adult supervision of some kind.

Frulla's reason: his agreement with parents that the Shawsheen Square traffic situation is hazardous -- too hazardous for him to ask ten year olds to cope with it, as escorts for five year olds. A secondary concern is the fact that the fifth graders lose instructional time when they serve as safety patrols in the middle of the day.

The school committee took under advisement the parents' request for bussing of kindergarten walkers leaving school at 11:30, the end of the first sessions, and those walking to the afternoon session, which begins at 12:30, but indicated they were looking for adult supervision of some kind as the solution, not bussing, for on the theory that bussing all Shawsheen kindergarteners leads to bussing all kindergarteners, which could lead to bussing children a year older, and so on, at great taxpayer expense.

As the parents prepared to leave, discontent at not receiving a promise of busses, Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert promised to talk with the town manager as soon as possible, to seek more complete supervision of the kindergarteners' midday going and coming. A possibility is a crossing guard who will be a walking guard, to pick the children up at Shawsheen School and walk them across the Square and nearer to their home streets.

Principal Frulla told the TOWNSMAN that adult supervision of some kind -- whether parents, crossing or walking guards, police, or other was essential; he has walked the area himself, -- considers it extremely dangerous for 5 - 10 year olds to negotiate, and feels the town has some obligation to the safety of the youngsters.

The kindergarten bussing question does open a can of worms for the school committee, which they may not be completely aware of.

The parents felt their request for kindergartener's noontime bussing was justified by Officer Tammany's report to them that all schools except Shawsheen and Doherty do bus some kindergarteners within the mile limit.

The TOWNSMAN has checked all the elementary schools and finds that Bancroft School busses all its kindergarteners home, regardless of the distance they live. South and West Elementary schools have kindergarten exceptions to the one-mile rule, made individually for safety reasons. West Principal Isabel Dobbie reports that a few kindergarteners within the mile limit are included on a bus with extra room which passes along their way if it does not mean going out of the bus drivers' way. Arrangements are ordinarily made by the parent with the principal and the bus driver, where a particular traffic hazard is apparent. South Principal Jack Coyle reports that he also has a few exceptions, that it has always been South School's policy to bus children, who would otherwise have to walk across railroad tracks to reach the school, even within the mile limit. Information could not be gained at press time for Sanborn School, as the principal was not available, and the kindergarten teachers were not sure.

Panel To Discuss Education

The South School PTO will hold its third meeting of the year on Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m. The program will consist of a panel discussion on the subject of taxes, taxpayers and the school. The panel members are Dr. Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, Dr. Richard Katz, chairman of the school board, and Dr. Albert Greenberg, chairman of the finance committee. K. Kelly Wise, president of the South School PTO will act as moderator.

The panel will discuss the educational objectives of the Andover school system, the reasons for the rising costs of education and the impact of the school budget on the overall town budget and tax rate.

All interested parents are urged to attend.

Bank Officials At Seminar

Three Andover bank officials recently attended an all-day bank management seminar at Babson College, Wellesley.

In attendance were Roger N. Bower, 49 West Parish Drive, president of the Lawrence Savings Bank; Gusta H. Larson, 63 Lowell St., treasurer of the Lawrence Savings Bank and Robert D. West, 49 Whittier St., assistant vice president, Suffolk Franklin Savings Bank, Boston.

Banking associations were sponsors of the conference in conjunction with the college.

His first substantive changes were to work toward a tone and atmosphere "more informal, personal and warm."

He began with the "decompression device" of giving girls more weekend and off-campus privileges, in the conviction that campus life should catch up with the greater freedom and independence in most American homes today, instead of being much more restrictive than home.

More selfdetermination was granted to the school community through a modified town meeting form of school government, which was instrumental in relaxing some of the regulations governing living arrangements.

Second priority was developing administrative leadership through a staff with shared goals. Gordon feels he has this with full-time assistant Peter Stapleton, Director of Studies Miss Carolyn Goodwin, Dean of Students Mrs. Malcolm Johnston, and Director of Development Richard Sheehan.

The priority now coming into focus, in Gordon's eyes, is curriculum. Abbot allows great pedagogical freedom to individual teachers, with the departmental heads playing the role of coordinator. Abbot is ready for a collective look at what it is doing in curriculum, to pull things together without making them too structured, says Gordon. The joint trustees' charge to the curriculum committees comes with perfect timing for Abbot, in the headmaster's eyes.

Abbot Academy has increased both its enrollment and its tuition, in a year when independent schools generally are being taken to the cleaners. Many are experiencing shrinkage and a few are permanently folding under pressure of tight funds, improving public school education and the parental tendency to keep fledglings at home in uncertain times. Abbot officials ascribe their progress in the face of prevailing winds to their up-to-date policies, good admission work which interprets it, and very importantly, Abbot's proximity to and coordination with Phillips Academy.

Parents coming to Parents' Weekend early this month were enthusiastic about coordination, but cautioned the school to "go slow" in the decision about marrying the boy next door; there was some fear that girls who were sent to a school of less than 300 students would suddenly find themselves lost in a school of nearly 1200, that Abbot's identity would be lost, alumni mail has shown the same concern.

Headmaster Gordon declares himself firmly for coeducation and the need of youngsters to grow up with people of the other sex. But he warns that just lumping them all together into one big school, the "enforced public togetherness of boys and girls," would squeeze out the privacy of boys and girls from each other, the psychic time and space for each individual to discover itself at its own time. The form for coeducation is the all important thing -- the design.

Perhaps this helps to explain why the trustees and administrations of Phillips and Abbot are not rushing headlong to the altar without further ado.

Both are new England products, who would not take the marriage vow lightly, and each has gotten along without the other for a long time. It takes time to design what form their life together will take, whether it be a close association, or the virtually irreversible step of marriage.

between school committee and AEA members, again at the instigation of the local teachers' organization. Last year's negotiations sessions, hailed by teachers, administrators and school committee participants as beneficial to the town, the teachers and the educational program, were open to the public fully reported by the TOWNSMAN, and carried out directly between negotiating teams of local teachers, led by Mrs. Helen Enman, and of school committee members, led by Mrs. Virginia Cole.

The school committee policy has been to negotiate directly with their staff, and hire a professional negotiator only if the teachers forced the issue by bringing in an outside negotiator from their state organization. When the AEA voted to do this in October, and Arnold Mendelssohn was picked by the AEA executive board, the school committee interviewed three applicants and hired Edward Marshall.

Marshall, a Chelmsford school committeeman with experience as professional negotiator for other towns, made his first professional appearance for Andover at last week's initial bargaining session, along with administrators Dr. Kenneth Seifert and Vaughan Clapp, and school committeeman Daniel Frishman. His services will be paid out of a $5000 budget item, put in last year's budget against this eventuality.

Andover Education President Robert Carroll told the TOWNSMAN that new contract proposals submitted to the school committee Tuesday night were a local product, based on Andover teachers' replies to questionnaires from the AEA board, based on the present contract.

He said the closed sessions which will be held each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at Bancroft School, should expedite the negotiating, and pointed out that although the local teachers' organization had hired an outside spokesman, it also had a full negotiating team of its own members which would be active in the bargaining sessions.

The AEA bargaining team, for whom Haverhill teacher Mendelssohn will be spokesman, are Ralph Duncan, (EJHS), Douglas Walshe, (AHS), Ken Sanford, (WIHS), Charles Donovan, (West El.) and Norma McCabe, all for Unit A, representing the teachers. West Jr. High assistant principal Richard Neil, with East Jr. High's assistant principal Jack Hughes as alternate, will represent Unit B, the administrators in the system.

TAXES

Town Manager Austin said he was hopeful that the free cash account would be higher this year which would aid some in curbing the increase.

Austin also said he was hopeful that the legislature would again approve a highway bond issue which aided cities and towns last year, Andover receiving $150,000 from the fund.

The budget reflects only those costs for operating municipal departments for 1971. Still to be considered are special articles which will be inserted in the town meeting warrant by boards and committees as well as private citizens.

In the latter category will probably be an article seeking $1,900,500 for an addition to the Doherty school. This will be a bond item.

In his explanation of increased municipal costs, Austin pointed out that much is for personnel.

The addition of three men to the police department is recommended, bringing the present 37 man force up to 40.

The increase would enable the department to have two lieutenants and one detective sergeant. Three patrolmen would be appointed to replace those promoted.

The detective division would have three members, thus providing possible around-the-clock investigative activity.

A lieutenant would serve on day and early night shifts. The day officer spends considerable time in court and would more than likely continue as prosecuting officer.

The night lieutenant would be able to supervise the activity considered heavy at those hours, and also free the desk sergeant to be out in the field.

The increase in the police account includes training schedules, vacation allowances and normal step rate increases. The budget is not complete as yet, since the department is currently negotiating with the manager for a new contract.

The manager would like to add two men to the highway department and also two additional men for the park department. The manager noted that the park department workload has increased rapidly in recent years. The department currently performs 80 percent of the work done on school grounds, Austin noted.

In the water department it has been suggested by Public Works Director Robert McQuade and the town manager, that instead of a department superintendent, a foreman for distribution and a chief pumping station operator.

Also needed in the department is an inspector, Austin stated.

The institution of the chief pumping station operator would enable the person to work with the new water treatment plant which is scheduled for construction next spring.

He would oversee construction of the plant and be familiar with it when placed in operation.

The manager noted with the completion of the water rate study, coupled with increased demand on the distribution system, the water department could possibly have sufficient revenue to be self-sufficient.

The disposal site will be a problem in 1971.

The manager has requested a replacement for the bulldozer now in operation there.

Other problems at the site include space. Additional land will be needed which will bring up drainage problems.

Also needed is cover material which will mean added costs.

The manager noted that ecology would more than likely be a big question in the coming year, but cautioned that it would be costly. He said of the subject, it is naive not to think of it and we must be aware, but also how much are we willing to spend.

The selectmen and finance committee will now review the overall budget by department and seek ways in which some savings can be made. It will be a difficult task at best.

It is hoped that all salary matters will be resolved prior to town meeting. The only town department in negotiation is the police. Others are working on two year contracts completed this year, providing for cost of living increases.

Major problem could be the professional staff of the school department which has just begun negotiations with the school committee. The salary scale item there will be a major item in the final school department budget.

All divisions will participate in games this Saturday, Dec. 5.

Hockey Team To Canvass

The Andover Hockey Association's Bantam hockey team will conduct a door-to-door canvass of the town of Andover on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 5 and 6, to raise funds for its fifth annual Canadian Tour of games.

This marks the fifth consecutive season that the top Andover Bantam team has been invited to represent Andover in a series of games with Bantam teams in the Canadian Province of Ontario.

Over the past three seasons the Bantam team, which consists of boys 13 and 14, has won thirteen of sixteen games played with Canadian teams. Last season's team won two of three games played in Canada on the tour and four of five games played in Andover against Canadian youngsters.

This season the team will leave Andover on Saturday, Feb. 13 and will return the following Friday. The tour will include two games in Toronto on Sunday and Monday and two games in Oshawa, Ontario, on Wednesday and Thursday.

In addition to the games scheduled for the team to play, several other educational and recreational activities have been planned for the boys. Included in these activities are a National Hockey League game between the Boston Bruins and the Toronto Maple Leafs at Maple Leaf Gardens, a visit to the Hockey Hall of Fame, a tour of the Ontario Science Center and various other tours.

Plans are also being developed for the Andover team to visit patients at a Toronto Crippled Children's Hospital during their stay in Canada. The team's visit with these children last year was the highlight of the entire tour.

The players who will make the trip face the responsibility of raising all of the necessary funds for the trip. They hope to raise the bulk of the required $2500 when they canvass the town this Saturday and Sunday. To do this they will offer to residents memberships in the Andover Hockey Association for which minimum dues are $1 per year. Other than for the donations received the team is unsponsored and is responsible for supporting itself. The team members will be dressed in their hockey uniforms during the canvass for easy identification.

In addition to the Canadian Tour the team will play an extensive schedule of games throughout New England. Home games are played at Phillips Academy with the first home encounter slated for Saturday, Jan. 2 at 6 p.m. The Concord Bantams of Concord, N.H., will provide the opposition.

All children and their parents are encouraged to attend and do some Christmas shopping for yourself or others.

The spinster expressed no lament at her situation in life: "I have a dog that growls, a parrot that swears, a fireplace that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. Why should I want a husband?"

'Rehab' Center Lauded

October 21, 1970 was a "red-letter" day for the Lawrence General Hospital Rehabilitation Center; the day on which representatives from Industry, State and local government officials, and Massachusetts Social Agency personnel convened for Commissioner Levis' presentation of the Governor's award as the "Employer of the Year." Mr. E. B. Hogan as director of the L.G.H. Rehabilitation Center accepted on behalf of the institution and its staff. Winning this citation in the center's first year of operation is certainly a laudable achievement; it meant surpassing Industry and other Rehabilitative Centers in the state-wide competition.

Commissioner Levis congratulated the Lawrence General Hospital as the "parent organization" for their interest and foresight in the Rehabilitative field. Dean K. Webster, chairman, L.G.H. board of trustees, acknowledged the co-operation of industry in realizing the center's potential. R. Ashton Smith, director of the Lawrence General Hospital, described the growth of the center from one serving only alcoholics into a multi-disabled facility. Present for the ceremony were John Levis, Commissioner, M.R.C.; Wayne Maglione and William Bartlett, M.R.C. counselors; William Voight, vice president of Manufacturing, Western Electric; Edward Moye, department chief, Western Electric; Ralph A. Rivella, business agent, Textile Workers Union; William Rogers, executive director, Goodwill Industries; Miss Evelyn Stultz, executive director, YWCA; Dr. J. Peter Thornton, staff; Mrs. Harry Axelrod, advisory board, L.G.H.R.C.; Mrs. Geraldine Chapman, personnel, Internal Revenue Service; Mrs. Margaret V. Murphy, division of Employment Security; Mrs. Viola M. Panarello, division of Employment Security; Reverend Paul Keyes; Thomas O'Leary, director, Greater Lawrence United Fund; Ronald Guittarr, Industrial Relations, Raytheon; William Lane, assistant director, L.G.H.; R. Ashton Smith, Director L.G.H.; Dean K. Webster, president, L.G.H. Board of Trustees; Mrs. Barbara Kennedy, Administrative Assistant, L.G.H.R.C.; and E. B. Hogan, director L.G.H.R.C.

DASA Puts New Product On Market

DASA Corporation has announced that their low cost, light-weight PMR/50 portable microfiche reader, developed earlier this year under a competitively sought after contract from the U.S. Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has been in full production since October, and is now being marketed nationally to libraries, schools and hospitals, as well as commercial, industrial and governmental operations through nearly 20 area sales outlets. A thousand units have already been delivered to customers.

George O. Stevens, National Sales Manager of DASA, described the unit as a "major breakthrough in micropublishing." The PMR/50 weighs only 7 1/2 lbs. and measures 13" x 13" x 7 1/2", with an easy-to-read 8 1/2" x 11" viewing screen. With an accompanying small desk-top microfiche file, one can store roughly 10,000 full pages of information, because each page is photographically reduced, combined and indexed on 4" x 6" microfiche. The microfiche reader, available immediately, features interchangeable grid formats for indexing control and high resolution constant focus. A single on-off button regulates high or low screen illumination and the unit plugs into standard electrical outlets.

DASA Corporation, headquartered in Andover, produces and services (for sale or lease) information products for telephone communications, micrographic equipment and supplies, and EDP business forms and supplies.

Comedy Presented At Academy

A lively production of Shaw's comedy, Arms and the Man, was brought to the Thompson Arts Center last Friday and Saturday nights by the Governor Dummer Dramatics Club, aided by three talented young actresses from Newburyport High School and Cardinal Cushing Academy.

Shaw's inimitable dialogue spoofing the hypocrisies of the times (the 1880's) was made into a musical comedy in the early part of the century as The Chocolate Soldier. The role of Bluntschli, the nervous soldier-hero who could control his nerves only by the ingestion of large amounts of chocolate, was ably presented by G. Gorton Baldwin of West Islip, N.Y., whose fine character study progressed to the suave man-of-the-world of the final act. Jennifer Jones of Newburyport High School brought understanding and humor to the role of Catherine, mother of Raina, a proud Victorian beauty well depicted by Nancy Peckham of Cardinal Cushing Academy, while Mary Peckham of Cardinal Cushing gave a fine performance as the ambitious maid, Louka.

Scott Johnson of Bennington, Vt., was excellent as the cynical manservant, Nicola, and William S. Connolly of Newburyport gave an inspired performance as the bumbling Major Petkoff, father of Raina. Steve Pugh of Charleston, West Virginia, took the part of Sergius, Raina's conceited suitor, with aplomb. Gary Haselton of Short Hills, N.J., took the supporting role of the Russian officer. Directed for the second year by John A. Boynton of the Academy faculty, the Dramatics Club now has membership in the International Thespian society. Gary Haselton was assistant director; C. Woodbury was publicity chairman; M. Kaplan and J. Stanyon were construction chairmen; M. Hoffman, properties; R. Kane, costumes; J. Lee, makeup; M. Wellman, sound; and W. Duryea, lighting.

Irish Stones At Museum

A bit of the old sod is now reposing at Boston's Museum of Science. Rocks from the legendary Giant's Causeway in Ireland are adding a new link to the many between Boston and the Emerald Isle.

The columnar shaped stones are the first to come from abroad for a "Rock Garden of the World" which the Museum is planning as part of the landscaping included in its West Wing expansion program. For the present, the Causeway rocks, as well as significant formations from this country, are on display in front of the Museum.

The presentation of the Causeway rocks was arranged by a Londonderry business man, William Clark, who became interested in the Museum while attending the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard Business School. Through his efforts the rocks were made a gift of National Trust of Northern Ireland and were flown to Boston by the British Overseas Airways Corporation.

The rocks are identical to thousands of columns which jut out to sea along the ruggedly beautiful Atlantic coastline of North Antrim. The unusually symmetrical formation of the rocks and the caves, amphitheatres, and cliffs that distinguish the area have inspired the imagination of visitors for centuries.

The Irish giant, Finn MacCool, is said to have built the Causeway with its stepping-stone effect so he could travel dryshod across the sea to Scotland. Names of individual configurations are romantic -- the Organ, the King and his Nobles, Port Moon, Aird Snout, the Wishing Chair, and Port Na. Spaniagh, which refers to a Spanish galleon that sank there in 1588.

The lonely Causeway and the adjacent Causeway Headlands were formed by a series of volcanic flows some 60 million years ago. The flows did not erupt violently in this area but poured out from fissures and vents in the ground like a thin oil, at a temperature ten times hotter than boiling water, spreading over a chalk base and solidifying into hard basalt columns. Because cooling was slowest and tension greatest in the lower part of the flow, the columns became distinct and regular. Their ends appear at the surface as polygonal patterns, of five, six, seven, or eight sides. Some of the columns are segmented by fractures or joints, the result of contractions as they cooled.

Somewhat similar formations of basalt, which is the most abundant and widespread volcanic rock, may be seen at the Palisades along the Hudson River, at the Devil's Tower in Wyoming, and at the Devil's Postpile in California.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grizoli

In teaching students to become discriminate listeners, today's music educators are faced with the option of being rejected or accepted by students who are interested in present day pop and rock. It is, therefore, important for a music educator to know more about the basic styles of youth music.

If we were to break down these styles into separate categories and their subdivisions, we might come up with:

White Rock, (hard rock, psychedelic rock, acid rock); Soul, (Black rock, traditional); White Folk, (Folk, Folk rock); Country and Western, (country rock, rock gospel).

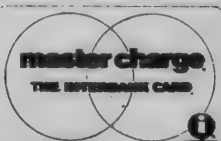

However, we must remember that these styles were and are still influenced by a highly developed musical tradition which for many years has been called "Jazz." This brings us to "pure American music" which we will discuss along with above mentioned youth music in future articles.

The woman archeologist said that one of the most warming things about probing the ancient ruins is that it made her feel so young.

ACEO Plans Annual Meeting

Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity (ACEO) will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday evening Dec. 9 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church, Lowell St.

Highlight of the 8 o'clock meeting will be a discussion of "Reach" -- a major effort to provide low and moderate-income housing in Andover. Norman Viehmann, who originated the concept locally, will talk about its progress and answer questions from the members.

ACEO annual session also will consider three other areas of concern for 1971 -- continued support for the Dora Adams fund; social support for participants in the community's ABC program and development of an active educational program.

There also will be an election of officers for 1971.

David E. Young of Bellevue Road is concluding his term as president of the organization. Other officers of the group include Joseph Wennik, Roger Wiehe, James Carroll and Mrs. Sandra Johnson.

Raytheon Employees Contribute

Employees of Raytheon Company and its subsidiaries have pledged $1,443,000 to United Funds in their communities during the annual in-plant drive just completed. The amount was 5 percent above the $1,375,000 goal. Nearly 30,000 employees contributed with most of the pledges in the form of payroll deductions. The average contribution was $48.66, an increase of 16.7 percent over last year.

Nearly a half-million dollars of the total was designated for the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.
